

HSM Risk Assessment

Scott's 'Terra Nova' Hut - Cape Evans, Ross Island

DETAILS

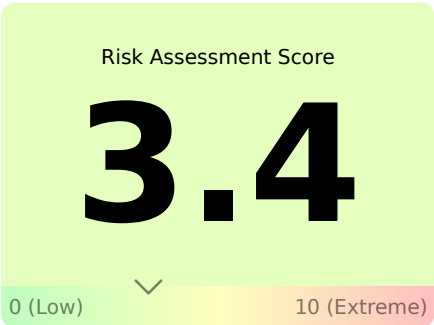

Shared 2025-12-27

Created 2025-01-29 15:42:56

Owner guest

Description

Hut at Cape Evans, Ross Island, built in January 1911 by the British Antarctic Expedition of 1910–1913, led by Captain Robert F. Scott. Restored in January 1961 by the Antarctic Division of New Zealand Department of Scientific and Industrial Research. Site incorporated within ASPA 155

Risk Assessment Details

1	Is the HSM comprised of durable materials?	Yes	5	Is the HSM located 3m or less above sea level?	No
2	Is the HSM located in the Western Antarctic (i.e., west of the Transantarctic Mountains)?	Yes	6	Is the HSM located within 100m of shoreline?	Yes
3	Is the HSM located on the Antarctic Peninsula, South Orkney Islands, or South Shetland Islands?	No	7	Does the HSM site have steep slopes (i.e., greater than 20%)?	No
4	Is the HSM located at a coastal site?	Yes	8	Is the HSM situated on permafrost soils?	Yes